

Later Dudes

An 11-minute animated comedy about time traveling Middle School dudes

By Tina Thompson

LOGLINE: Ten year old super scientist Clark and his 13 year old lazy best friend, Avery, have just started Middle School together. And they hate it! So when the tween-ness and meanness get to much, they escape to easier times in the future.

But, the classmate that annoys Clark the most, top student Allbright, sees the guys in the future and notices that something's off whenever the guys leap into the bodies of their older selves. And she is on their tail to find the truth!

Their time traveling skateboard, Epoch, likes to big brother these two by changing their trip details in the hope that they might actually learn a lesson. But, these guys never will. The problems they left behind are always waiting for them.